WELCOME TO THE VIRTUAL SCHOOL

The school does not exist in real terms as a building and children do not attend. They remain the responsibility of the school at which they enroll. The virtual school is the team within children's services which supports the education of children in care. We also provide advice to the carers, parents and education settings of previous children in care, care leavers and children with a social worker.

The Interim Virtual School Head is Sarah Lane, who leads a team of Education Progress Leads and Education Progress Co-ordinators who work together with education settings and social care to ensure children in care get the best from their education, remove any barriers to learning and reach their potential. We work in cooperation with all children and young people in care aged 3-18, wherever they are educated, carers and professionals linked to the children and young people in care, other local authority virtual schools and other relevant staff in education and social care. Pupil Premium Plus funding for pupils who are looked after by Lincolnshire is managed by the Virtual School and up to £2,530 per child will be allocated to education settings through Personal Education Plans.

We aim to:

- help children become happy, successful and fulfilled
- support children, young people, carers, schools and social workers to improve educational outcomes
- ensure that an effective Personal Education Plan (PEP) is integral to the child's care plan and review it regularly
- ensure that young people make the best possible progress in the most suitable educational placement

We offer a range of training, workshops and briefings aimed at Designated Teachers for Looked-after Children and other relevant staff in education settings to develop their skills, confidence and understanding in supporting the education of children in care, those previously in care and children with a social worker. All our workshops are offered free of charge to schools, education and early years settings. Dates for the training events are included in this events guide.

Thank you for your continued support for our children in care, previous children in care, care leavers and children with a social worker and we hope these training opportunities will further develop and enhance your skills in meeting the needs of our most vulnerable young people.

ABOUT CARING2LEARN

Caring2Learn began in 2018 as a research project funded by the Department for Education through the Partners in Practice programme. It is now our embedded approach, developed in Lincolnshire with the overall aim of supporting the improvement of a wide range of outcomes for children and young people made vulnerable by adversity. Caring2Learn is about improving the outcomes of our most vulnerable children and young people by improving the skills, knowledge and confidence of all those who educate and care for them so that they can provide learning homes and caring schools.

We aim to support all the team around the child to understand the impact of trauma and adverse childhood experiences on behavioural and emotional presentation and also recognise the importance of stability in education and home and the importance of trusted relationships with adults as a critical strength and protective factor for young people. We want all education settings to be confident in nurturing vulnerable children and young people so they are protected, make good progress and achieve in education. We want all our young people to feel safe and to feel that they belong in their home, school and community in order to provide them with a solid foundation to have the confidence to go on to learn, be aspirational and achieve their full potential.

CARING2LEARN TRIAD OF SUCCESS

What are Adverse Childhood Experiences & Trauma?

Caring2Learn aims to create a wider understanding of the needs of vulnerable and disadvantaged young people and the impact adverse childhood experiences and trauma can have on young people. Adverse Childhood Experiences (ACEs) are “highly stressful, and potentially traumatic, events or situations that occur during childhood and/or adolescence. They can be a single event, or prolonged threats to, and breaches of, the young person’s safety, security, trust or bodily integrity.” (Young Minds, 2018).

Experiencing ACEs can have an impact on our future physical and mental health, and often ACEs can be barriers to healthy attachment relationships forming for children. Some of the other things exposure to ACEs can impact, are:

- The ability to recognise and manage different emotions.
- The capacity to make and keep healthy friendships and other relationships.
- The ability to manage behaviour in school settings.
- Difficulties coping with emotions safely without causing harm to self or others.

A trauma informed approach and whole school ethos enables schools and education settings to create and enhance felt safety, build connected relationships and build social, emotional and resiliency skills for both the young people and adults within their contexts.

In Lincolnshire we call this a Caring School and have developed the Caring2Learn approach to work together with the whole team around the child to promote a wide range of improved outcomes and life chances.

The Caring Schools Toolkit

A Caring School can be any type of education setting; early years, primary, secondary or college, maintained, academy or independent, mainstream, specialist or alternative provision. It is an education setting where the nurture and wellbeing of all children and in particular the most vulnerable is as high a priority as their academic achievement. It is a place where all staff understand the possible impact of adverse childhood experiences and trauma and work on an organisational level to promote truly trauma informed practice to meet the holistic needs of the child and support them so that they can achieve to their full potential both academically and socially.

We have developed the Caring Schools Toolkit as a good practice framework and self-evaluation audit tool to support education settings as part of their ongoing development and improvement planning. The toolkit is designed to help you assess and develop all the ways your setting supports the children and young people in your care to overcome barriers to learning and achieve their full potential. With the Caring School Award we want to recognise and celebrate all the amazing ways you do this and also identify any training needs of your staff.

The toolkit is divided into four domains which draw together best practice in Ethos and Leadership, a Child-centred Approach, Working Together with Families, Parents and Carers and Working Together with External Services, Teams and Agencies. Each domain is divided into a set of indicators which describe specific good practice across these areas. The practice examples are also organised on a continuum of development which reflects the journey of development from trauma aware or sensitive (bronze) to trauma responsive (silver) through to an education setting which is fully trauma informed (gold).

Attending a Caring Schools Toolkit Workshop will guide you through the process of using the toolkit as part of your whole-school self-evaluation process and will explain how you can submit your toolkit and evidence for accreditation as a Caring School.

We offer a range of learning and development opportunities based around our Cornerstones of Good Practice. You will find many of our workshops and training are attended by a mixed group of education staff, foster and kinship carers and children's services practitioners. This is based on our Triad of Success model. It is through this we can share a wide range of experiences and perspectives and ensure we are developing effective relationships so that we can truly work together on an equal basis to ensure the best outcomes for our children and young people.

All our workshops are offered free of charge to schools, education and early years settings and you can book multiple members of staff on each workshop. Education settings are able to book Designated Teachers and other relevant members of staff on training events and workshops by emailing virtualschooltraining@lincolnshire.gov.uk Please CC your Headteacher or Senior Leader for CPD to confirm authorisation. Children's Services staff may book on relevant events and workshops however when emailing virtualschooltraining@lincolnshire.gov.uk please CC your Line Manager to confirm authorisation.

Do not hesitate to contact us to discuss the training available and also whether a bespoke offer can be designed for your individual setting, group of schools/settings or academy trust.

INTERMEDIATE DT TRAINING

An Introduction to Social Pedagogy

Social Pedagogy describes a holistic approach to the social and emotional development of a child or young person. It is essentially concerned with the well-being, learning and growth of the whole child. It considers how education is for the Head, Heart and Hands and is underpinned by the idea that each person has inherent potential, is valuable, resourceful and can make a meaningful contribution to their wider community. Social Pedagogy has been described as providing excellent support for direct work with children in both the home and school setting as well as by Children's Services Practitioners.

Understanding Dyslexia

This workshop is delivered by Dyslexia Outreach Specialist Teachers and will offer an introduction to dyslexia –what it is, how it impacts on learning, and what can be done to support the child’s needs at home. This is predominantly for carers, but schools are welcome to join with the carers to discuss working together to meet their child’s needs.

Kids Skills: Solution Focused Coaching

Developed from the work of Dr Ben Furman and Dr Goff James, Kids Skills or Solution Focused Coaching is the art of ‘skills thinking’. How to convert issues and problems into learnable skills. A practical and solutions focused intervention to solving behavioural difficulties faced by children and young people with the premise that practically all problems can be seen as skills in need of development. The solutions focused approach is suitable for implementing individually as an intervention or as a group wide approach and

Creating Calm

This workshop is a practical introduction to educational neuroscience and includes approaches to supporting emotional regulation, self-care and wellbeing for adults and children. It introduces the concepts of mindfulness and the 5 ways to wellbeing and provides a range of practical strategies and resources which can be used with individuals and groups of children and adults of all ages.

Supporting Grief, Loss and Positive Endings

In a supportive and safe environment this workshop explores grief and loss in their widest sense with a focus on the experiences of vulnerable children and young people and how different types of grief and loss impact on them. We will explore and offer practical strategies and resources for supporting children and young people with grief and loss and also consider how to facilitate effective transitions and positive endings for young people moving on in many different contexts.

In this workshop we explore the impact of Attachment and Relational Trauma on children and young people in schools and education settings. We address the implications for school wide behaviour policies and practice and consider the guidance provided by Brighton & Hove City Council in their 'Developing an Attachment Aware Behaviour Regulation Policy' and also the advice for schools from the National Association of Therapeutic Parenting. We offer practical advice and strategies and we also make the links between restorative and relational based practice.

Relational Repair—Supporting children to trust others and invest in relationships

This workshop focusses on Relational Trauma and we will explore the reasons why children may be afraid to trust others, get close and form healthy relationships and friendships, offering practical advice and strategies for those supporting and working with children.

An Introduction to Social Pedagogy

Social Pedagogy describes a holistic approach to the social and emotional development of a child or young person. It is essentially concerned with the well-being, learning and growth of the whole child. It considers how education is for the Head, Heart and Hands and is underpinned by the idea that each person has inherent potential, is valuable, resourceful and can make a meaningful contribution to their wider community. Social Pedagogy has been described as providing excellent support for direct work with children in both the home and school setting as well as by Children's Services Practitioners.

Supporting Grief, Loss and Positive Endings

In a supportive and safe environment this workshop explores grief and loss in their widest sense with a focus on the experiences of vulnerable children and young people and how different types of grief and loss impact on them. We will explore and offer practical strategies and resources for supporting children and young people with grief and loss and also consider how to facilitate effective transitions and positive endings for young people moving on in many different contexts.

Kids Skills: Solution Focused Coaching

Developed from the work of Dr Ben Furman and Dr Goff James, Kids Skills or Solution Focused Coaching is the art of 'skills thinking'. How to convert issues and problems into learnable skills. A practical and solutions focused intervention to solving behavioural difficulties faced by children and young people with the premise that practically all problems can be seen as skills in need of development. The solutions focused approach is suitable for implementing individually as an intervention or as a group wide approach and has also been used successfully by parents and carers in the home. (Developed from the work of Dr Ben Furman and Karen Treisman)

Creating Calm

This is an informal and practical workshop which explores the principles of emotional wellbeing for both adults and children. We will develop an understanding of emotional regulation in ourselves and others. This workshop also introduces breathing techniques, mindfulness and other practical activities for helping adults and children with emotional regulation, positive mindset and promoting a sense of calm.

Supporting Sleep, Nightmares and Night Terrors

Sleep can be a real challenge for many adults and children. Children that have experienced trauma are more likely to find falling to sleep and staying asleep challenging. In this workshop we will explore the science of sleep and how we can support sleep and help establish routines that help promote a restful nights sleep. In addition to this we look at how we better understand nightmares and night terrors, exploring ways to support these through interventions recommended by sleep and trauma experts. By attending this workshop education staff will be able to advise and signpost parents and carers to further support.

Time2Talk

This series of workshops is delivered by members of the Lincolnshire Speech, Language & Communication Specialist Teaching Team (ECLIPS). A series of practical and fun sessions for Foster Carers, Child-minders and Early Years Practitioners to help the development of communication, speech and language of children in the early years & KS1. Participants should attend all sessions as each one will cover different aspects and will include lots of ideas, tips, tools and resources to use with babies, toddlers as well as young children in primary school. Includes an introduction to Makaton.
